

HM2 Angelino Roque holds court with his young friends at Cite Soleie Elementary School.

commands overall success...good chemistry. This unplanned benefit, unique as well as elusive, has caused strong friendships to flourish within the unit and has assisted in building solid relationships with the local Haitian community, a reality that has helped define FH5's role as an ambassador of good will.

"I would honestly like to stay another six-months!" said HM2 Geoff Engler. "We all work in the Navy and at the same command but, this deployment has brought most of us together like a family. We're sharing a moment that no one else can experience."

"This mission has shown me that there is a lot more to being a Hospital Medic than just reading vital signs and following a nurse's orders," says HM3 Dennis Johnson. "I've learned that no matter how

(continued next page)

HN Anna Huezoescobar sits in during a math class at Bon Berger.